These giant wooden structures were placed in the forests of Estonia, a small eastern European nation, to amplify the peaceful, pacifying sounds of the woods.